Third Sunday of Advent

In today's Gospel, John the Baptist cautions against the temptation to get caught up in having more than we need. If you have enough, share with others, he advises; do not charge more than your due, and be fair and honest in your dealings. His preaching leads people to question whether John himself might be the Messiah, but he sets them straight. He is laying the groundwork for Jesus, preparing the way for his radical vision of a world where justice reigns. John's message is clear and practical, and every bit as relevant for us today as it was in his time. It is easy for us to forget what is truly important when we are caught up in the merry-go-round of consumerism that pervades our world at this time of year; we lose touch with the heart of the season. By way of contrast, we should remember that for many people this is also a time of great generosity, with an outpouring of support for charity collections, appeals for food and toys, and ethical gifts.

Today is known as Gaudete Sunday. 'Gaudete' means rejoice. It's an ideal time to recapture what Pope Francis refers to as 'quiet joy' – the joy of God's love, of the blessings in our lives, of being able to share with others. It is a good time to take stock of how our Christmas preparations are going. If you are fortunate enough to have enough of everything, you might see a way to cut back on spending and donate some money or time to a favourite charity. If you are struggling with seasonal expenses, perhaps you might take a breather and consider reaching out for help. We pray that the joy of the Gospel will fill our hearts as we continue our Advent journey.
