The Ascension of the Lord

As we mark and celebrate the Ascension of the Lord, the saying, 'all good things come to an end' never sounded more suitable and appropriate. Jesus is preparing the disciples for his departure and his return to heaven. He is leaving them, but he is not leaving them alone. He is not deserting or abandoning them. In fact, he is going to be with them in a very personal and intimate way for ever.

Before Jesus takes his leave of them, he passes on and entrusts them with the responsibility of carrying on his mission of proclaiming the good news of the gospel and of establishing the kingdom of God. This ordinary group of men and women are the ones who were chosen by Jesus to be the heralds and witnesses of the resurrection. Through their words and actions, the world will know that Jesus is alive and more alive and present than ever he was. As Jesus' earthly life ends, theirs and our mission and ministry begin.

Today that responsibility belongs to us. It is now up to each of us in our way to carry on the mission and ministry of Jesus. Through us today, the world will know that Jesus is alive, present and active in our world. As Pope Francis says to each of us, every Christian is a missionary to the extent that they have experienced the love of God in Jesus.
